SEN. SMITH TO ASK U.S. TO BUY COTTON

CAROLINA SENATOR WOULD HAVE GOVERNMENT PURCHASE 10,000,000 BALES.

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 30.—Senator E. D. Smith, of South Carolina, can see no reason why the government should not protect the cotton farmer by congressional appropriations in the "same way it underwrites railroads, banks and insurance companies."

With that in view he plans to ask the next congress to make available a half-billion dollars for the purpose of preventing a surplus of cotton by purchasing 10,000,000 bales "from the present supply" and holding it off the market.

Senator Smith's plan is intended, if enacted into law, to have the effect of controlling production of the nation's greatest cash crop by legislation, and one of the requirements is that cotton growers sign an agreement to curtail their next year's crop.

Smith would have the government buy the 10,000,000 bales of cotton already in hand, then offer it to the farmers at the same price it paid, under condition they signed contracts to reduce their 1933 crops 50 per cent.

As an illustration, he says, a farmer who produced 100 bales this year would sign an enforceable contract with the government that in 1933 he will not produce more than 50 bales. The government then would sell him 50 bales at the price which the government had paid in retiring the 10,000,000 bales from the market.

"Having eliminated 10,000,000 bales from the present supply," the senator explained, "and providing through the government that next year's crop will be reduced 10,000,000 bales, we will have eliminated the surplus and provided for just a normal surplus for the fall of 1933."

"The government would be authorized to dispose of this cotton, and when it does so, the purchase price plus a reasonable overhead, is to be charged. The money obtained from sales, after deducting the purchase price and the overhead, is to be given to the producers—that is, all profit above the purchase price and overhead charge is to be given to the producer according to the number of bales held in trust for him."

New Candidates in Race for Coroner

Two new candidates in the race for coroner add spice to that contest this week. They are C. C. Atkins and Fred E. Lanier, both of whom live in Statesboro. J. P. Boyd announced last week, by which it is seen that a triangle race is on. Willis Barnes, nominated in the primary last spring, has formally withdrawn his name, giving as his reason his proposed removal from the county. On the official ticket there will be a blank space in which to write the name of your choice.

"Poppy Day" To Be Observed Thursday

"Poppy Day" will be observed in Statesboro, Thursday, November 10. The Dexter Allen Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary is completing preparations for the annual sale of poppies with the hope of placing a memorial poppy on the coat of every man, woman and child in the city.

The memorial poppy is a replica of the poppies which grew on the battlefields of France and Belgium during the World War. They are made by disabled veterans working in hospitals and workrooms under the direction of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Every penny you drop in the boxes of the "Poppy Sellers" on November 10th is used to support the work of the American Legion Auxiliary for the welfare of the disabled veterans, their families and the families of the dead in Bulloch county.

The purchaser can be sure that he is buying a veteran-made American Legion and Auxiliary label on the poppy. The poppy means, "honoring the dead and serving the living."

MISS IRENE ARDEN, Chairman of Sale Committee.

Mrs. Jane Morrell, of Dublin, celebrated her 102nd birthday by going to the movies.

SENIOR CLASS TO SPONSOR A SHOW

"MIRACLE MEN" TO ENTERTAIN ON EVENINGS OF NOVEMBER 16TH AND 17TH

Fayssoux, known as the "Miracle Man," who seems to do the impossible, will appear in an engagement in Statesboro under the auspices of the senior class of the High School, November 16th and 17th.

Fayssoux has appeared before the public during the past thirty years. He received his training through hypnotism and telepathy at a performance in his home town in Gastonia, N. C., 38 years ago. After seeing the performance he was greatly interested, then he began to read everything he could find on this subject and practiced around the neighborhood. Two years later he astonished the residents of Gastonia by driving a pair of spirited horses at top speed while blindfolded. His fame was assured. Since then he has toured the world as the "Great Fayssoux" and has never failed to completely mystify his audience.

In the field of telepathy, Fayssoux occupies a unique place, no doubt heading the world in this, his chosen profession. To realize fully the heights he has attained in achieving this position of prominence in the field of telepathy, Fayssoux has been regularly nominated in the recent primary, and contested the right of the government to action on the regular election on the official ballot.

The ordinary who his charge of making up the official ballot to E. E. Rogers who is opposing J. H. Kennedy for sheriff, is a Cochran who is opposing F. M. McCall, and L. R. Tillman, who is running against John C. Beasley. These men were regularly nominated in the recent primary, and contested the right of the government to action on the regular election on the official ballot.

The whole affair is the back wash from the discredited element in the Democratic party of Tattnell county who were defeated in the recent primary and the possibilities are that if the matter is again taken up in the general election the courts may rule the whole affair illegal and order a new election for the county.

Drop in a Penny

ANTI-SALOON BODY PROMISES BATTLE

BONE DRY WILL CLAIM THAT NO GREAT REVENUE WOULD BE RAISED.

Washington, Oct. 30.—A bitter battle over legalization and taxation of beer at the coming session of congress was forecast here tonight when the powerful Anti-Saloon League revealed it would oppose action on the ground it would be uneconomical and would increase drunkenness among young people.

The full plan of strategy to be followed by the dry organization in fighting the new assault upon the prohibition law will not be announced until the league holds its annual convention here in mid-December.

Meantime dry leaders and workers throughout the nation already are hard at work on preliminary plans designed to block efforts of anti-prohibitionists to release the bung from the beer keg. A statement was made tonight by E. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, indicated that organization would emphasize the economic folly of legalizing the foaming beverage.

"Candidates and liquor leaders who promise beer for ballots and advocate beer as a panacea for the nation's ills are simply misleading the public," McBride said. "Beer would be unprofitable as a revenue measure. It would fail to promote temperance. It would not increase employment. It would not help any other business."

The statement said the greatest quantity of beer ever consumed in one year in America was in 1914 when a total of $66,189,473 was paid on 2,051,873,663 gallons. McBride declared the entire burden of raising the beer revenue would fall on drinkers and on states, if, as anti-prohibitionists advocate, the dry states are to be protected against importing from wet states.

The dry forces, McBride added, will lay before congress a list of what they describe as "harmful results of beer legalization. They include:

1. An immediate increase in traffic casualties.
  2. An immediate increase in the number of alcoholic addicts, particularly among young people.
  3. An immediate decrease in merchandise sales with loss of profits and employment in other industries.
  4. An immediate increase in enforcement difficulties with enforcement machinery paralyzed by political influence and a convenient cover for illicit whiskey sales provided by the beer trade.
- McBride said in his statement that tax receipts from beer would be offset by the resulting decrease in returns from personal property taxes, gasoline taxes and amusement taxes. A heavy loss also would come, he declared in income taxation, which would be sharply reduced through decreased earnings of industries whose sales would suffer from competition with beer.
- "The largest share of the beer tax," the statement added, "would be paid by workmen and others with incomes less than $3,000 a year. Only a small proportion would be paid by classes economically able to afford beer without curtailing purchases of necessities and accustomed luxuries."

IVANHOE CLUB MEETS FRIDAY

The Ivanhoe community club will hold its regular November meeting at the home of Olin Griner, one of the members of the organization, Friday afternoon, November 4, according to J. W. Davis, president of the club.

The program will consist of a talk by Mayor J. L. Renfro, Statesboro, and discussions by local members relative to a farm program for the coming year. W. A. Green will discuss the place of a year-round feed crop for hogs; C. H. Yearn will present to the club his experiences with beef cattle in the farm program; Miss Josie Cone will tell of how the hog and poultry combination plays a part in the Bulloch farm program.

Mr. W. W. Robertson has as her topic the place of poultry on the farm, and Harley Warnock will outline a water system, community telephone, and other home conveniences and their part in making for comfort during the seven lean years as well as the seven fat years.

Miss Caro Lane, director of physical education for women at the South Georgia Teachers College, will handle recreation for the youngsters. The social part of the program will consist of a community dinner.

This group of farmers have already completed plans for a community meat curing plant to be used for curing the home supply of meat and the committee in charge will make a definite report at this meeting.

WESLEYAN DRIVE STAGES CONCERT

MUSICAL PROGRAM WEDNESDAY EVENING AT MACON TO INCLUDE STARS.

Macon, Nov. 1.—To provide an additional incentive to workers in the Macon citizens campaign for $250,000 emergency appeal and in order to give the public an intimate view of what the school is doing, a program of music and tableaux will be given at a rally to be held in the Macon Civic Auditorium Wednesday night, November 9.

Professor Joseph Maerz, director of music at the Wesleyan conservatory and one of the best known pianists in the South, and Miss Eunice Harper, professor of voice at the conservatory and formerly with the New York and Philadelphia Grand Opera companies, will be on the program.

The high lights of the one hour and a half of entertainment, however, will be provided by the present students of Wesleyan and by Wesleyan alumnae, who will both have major share in the program.

The Wesleyan superlatives, recently introduced in student elections, will be presented by Dr. D. C. Jones, who will be master of ceremonies for the program, while they and other students will portray the "Spirit of Wesleyan" under the direction of Miss Ernestine Grote, professor of physical education at Wesleyan.

Mrs. O. A. Clark and Mrs. Beattie Reed Napier, Wesleyan's two oldest living alumnae, who were both members of the class of 1862, will be guests of honor, while every alumnae of the college will be asked to be present.

Elbert P. Peabody, Macon banker, who is directing arrangements for the rally, characterized it as a get-together for Wesleyan's friends.

Greta Bradley, 18, of Chicago, kicked a policeman in the nose when he arrested her for intoxication.

Georgia Nugget Pin Given to Roosevelt

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 1.—There's gold in Franklin D. Roosevelt's tie.

Thirty years ago the now famous old "Loud" mine in Georgia's gold belt near Dahlonega was rich in diggings. A nugget weighing about six pennyweight was found and Robert Meadows came into possession of it.

That nugget, made into a stick pin, adorned the ties of Meadows until recently when he, with shaky hands, pinned it in the tie of the Democratic presidential nominee.

Meadows, now about 60, beamed, and in the excitement of giving the nugget to Roosevelt became so nervous that the change required several minutes while delegations from many states attending a luncheon here in the nominee's honor, waited.

GOLD DUST TWINS OF DEPRESSION

HERBERT HOOVER AND CALVIN COOLIDGE ALSO STYLED BY BULLDOCH CITIZEN.

During six years of Calvin Coolidge's administration in the White House the screws began to tighten on the laboring man, cotton-tail farmers of the South, the hard-eyed grower of the Central and Western States. Mr. Coolidge spent most of his time fishing and hunting, while the big boys on Wall Street, New York, tightened down on the screws until all farm produce declined below the cost of production.

This forced most farmers to put their homes in some loan company or give a mortgage to some bank to satisfy their creditors. By this time Al Smith and Herbert Hoover were running for the office of president. The people decided that Mr. Hoover was the best man for the place. He was elected by a big majority in the fall of 1928 and took office the following March. The country would have been better off had they re-elected Mr. Coolidge.

After Mr. Hoover was elected the screws were tightened tighter. The farmers went into depression to last longer, and cotton, wheat, corn and other farm products sold at the lowest prices on record. I don't see any chance for any improvement until the Republicans go out and the Democrats go in. Thousands of gray-bearded farmers and their families have been thrown out on the mercy of the low prices of farm products. This did not only affect the farmers of this country and the day laboring man but affected every line of business, including the government.

When the farmer fails to obtain a fair price for his produce it demoralizes the business of the entire world. These conditions make the billionaires and millionaires richer and causes the middleman, laboring man and the farmer to get poorer.

NEW TAX MEASURE WILL BE DEFEATED

PEOPLE OF STATE BEING AROUSED OVER PROPOSAL TO EXEMPT INTANGIBLES.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 1.—From all parts of Georgia reports are being received by Mayor James L. Key that the proposed amendment number four to be submitted to the people in the election November 8th will be defeated. The mayor is general chairman of a committee of farmers and business men formed to fight this measure. The bill was passed on the last night of the legislature with little debate. The measure takes away from counties, towns, school districts and cities the right to levy taxes on intangible property.

J. Frank Pittman, chairman of the county commission in Thomas county, is one state-wide leader who is fighting the adoption of the amendment. Dr. D. D. Jennings, mayor of Augusta, is leading the fight in that part of the state. A campaign committee composed of twelve outstanding Georgians has been formed.

Mayor Key will take the stump to speak against the measure. He has been invited to speak at Thomasville and Augusta and already has appeared at Marietta.

"We are opposing this measure because it is unfair, because it shifts the tax burden from those most able to pay it to the shoulders of those who are not even able to pay their present taxes."

"We are against the measure because it has a misleading title. It purports to exempt forestry lands from taxation but there is no such exemption in the body of the bill. It is supposed to be a classification of property tax bill, but it does nothing of this kind. We are not opposed to the passage of a scientifically prepared classification tax bill which would have teeth in it but we are opposed to this ill-conceived and ill-prepared bill."

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Miss Mary Ruth Lanier, the attractive daughter of Mrs. E. A. Smith, was hostess Friday evening to about seventy-five guests with a Halloween party. The spacious rooms and hall were thrown together and effectively decorated. Garlanded with pumpkins were over the doors, black cats and owls over the mantels, while moss and orange and black streamers were suspended from the ceiling, as were the Halloween lanterns which cast a soft glow over the rooms. A number of ghosts of varying size lined the walks as the guests arrived and ushered them to the door where they were received by a witch. The young ladies were seated on the floor, where they were asked to remove a shoe. These were placed in a heap, the boys taking a shoe and finding its owner to determine the partner for the evening. First they visited the fortune teller's booth where Mrs. R. J. Proctor dressed as a witch told fortunes as she stirred the boiling cauldron. Later a snake dance, led by Stanley Waters, carried the young people over the neighborhood, finishing at a huge bonfire in the back yard where there were other interesting forms of entertainment. The basement of the home was transformed into a wilderness occupied by ghosts, witches and skeletons. On a table was a dead man, cats and other things which were to weird sounds. From the ceiling of the garage were suspended apples which the young people tried to bite. At a late hour the guests congregated on the side lawn which was brilliantly lighted. There punch was served from a bowl under a tripod, and a variety of sandwiches were passed. Others assisting with the entertaining were Mrs. Smith, mother of the young hostess; Mrs. C. H. Bedenbaugh, Mrs. H. P. Jones, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. George P. Donaldson, Mrs. F. W. Darby, and Misses Helen Olliff and Ruth Malard.

SEWING CLUB

Mrs. J. A. Addison was hostess Wednesday afternoon to the members of her bridge club, the Ace High. She invited three tables of players and served a course of peaches with whipped cream, cake and coffee. Mrs. Bonnie Morris made high score and received a rubber table cover. A Halloween cat filled with candy for low score went to Mrs. M. E. Grimes.

B. Y. P. U.

The B. Y. P. U. department of the First Baptist church will hold its monthly business meeting at the church Thursday night, November 3rd, at 6:30 o'clock. Each officer will bring a written report of his work for the past month. Important business to be discussed. All members of the department are urged to be present.

Mrs. J. A. Addison was hostess Thursday afternoon to the members of her bridge club, the Ace High. She invited three tables of players and served a course of peaches with whipped cream, cake and coffee. Mrs. Bonnie Morris made high score and received a rubber table cover. A Halloween cat filled with candy for low score went to Mrs. M. E. Grimes.
